

Index

Page numbers followed by “b” indicate box, “f” indicate figure, and “t” indicate table.

- Acceptance, 37
 - acceptance-based therapies, 352
- Accurate empathy, 7
 - acceptance as underlying attitude, 37
- Action-oriented therapies, 352–353
- Adaptations of motivational interviewing, 270–271, 282–283
 - common elements, 280
 - framework, 273, 274b, 276–277
 - behavior change counseling, 273, 275, 278–279
 - brief advice, 273, 275, 277–278
 - learning/training implications, 281–282
 - methods, 272–273
 - names/perspectives, 271–272
 - practice implications, 280–281
- Addictive behavior
 - and approach–avoidance conflict, 13–14
 - and study of change, 4
- Adherence issues, 313–314, 362
 - and dual disorders, 362
 - and motivational interviewing, 365–368
 - strategies with outpatients, 368
 - case example, 369–370
 - “check-up” feedback, 371
 - drop-in motivational groups, 371
- Advocacy responses, 49. See also Phase 1 (motivational interviewing)/early traps
 - types, 50–51, 50b
- Alcohol use disorders/treatment studies
 - different methods, 26–27
 - motivational interviewing modes, 28
- Alcoholics Anonymous, position on labeling, 61
- Allison, Jeff, 22
- Ambivalence, 11, 19
 - approach–avoidance conflict, 13, 15, 39
 - clarification, 92, 96
 - and conflicting values, 292–293
 - and decisional balance, 15–16, 15f, 16f
 - discrepancy overlap, 23
 - and normal process of change, 14
 - paradoxical responses, 17–18
 - and psychological difficulties, 13–14
 - resolution via motivational interviewing, 25–26
 - choice counseling, 86
 - social context, 16–17
- AMI (“adaptation” of motivational interviewing), 218
 - and adherence promotion, 307
 - and client profiles, 245–246

- AMI (continued)
 and group intervention, 307–308 process–outcome links, 244–245
 and treatment facilitation, 306–307
- Assessment measures
 Drinker’s Check-Up (DCU), 218, 378
 Project MATCH, 218
- Attack therapy, 11–12. See also Confrontation
- B
- BASICS (Brief Alcohol Screening and Advice for College Students) program, 327–328
- Behavioral gap, 38
- Berg-Smith, Steve, 189
- Boot camps, 12
- Brief intervention effects, 5, 327
 and ambivalence “unsticking,” 14
- Brief negotiation, 253–254
- Buddhism, and detachment from meddling, 20
- C
- Change. See also TTM (Transtheoretical model of intentional behavior change) ability/confidence, 11, 53–55, 111–112, 125. See also Confidence talk confidence traps, 112–113
 enhancing confidence clinical example, 118–124 “behavioral gap,” 38
 discrepancy foundation, 22–23
 importance of, 10, 38 readiness/priorities, 11, 54
 readiness signs, 127b, 373b
 and “recycling,” 213
 as study topic, 3–4
 focus on addictive behavior, 4
- Change (motivational understanding of), 9–10, 11–12
 and ambivalence, 23
 and brief intervention, 5
 counselor effects, 6–7
 dose effects, 5
 natural, 4, 312
 self-efficacy effects, 5–6
 and significant others, 348
 waiting-list effects, 8
- Change plan
 negotiation steps, 133
 change plan worksheet, 136, 137b, 138
 commitment, 138
 goal setting, 133–135
 options review, 135
 and Phase 2 process, 111
- Change talk, 23, 181. See also Confidence talk categories, 47
 advantages of change, 24
 disadvantages of status quo, 24 intention to change, 24
 optimism for change, 24, 113
- effects, 8–9
 eliciting, 76–78, 83
 methods
 affirmation, 91
 decisional balance discussion, 80
 elaborating, 80–81, 87
 exploring goals/values, 83
 importance ruler, 78
 looking back, 82
 looking forward, 82–83
 open questions, 78, 79b
 querying extremes, 81
 reflective listening, 88–89
 summarization, 89–91
 vs. resistance, 47, 49b
- Changers, characteristics of, 115b
- Cognitive dissonance, 38, 45
- Compassion, 162–163
- Confidence. See Change, ability/confidence
- Confidence talk, 113
 brainstorming, 115–116
 confidence ruler, 113–114
 hypothetical change, 117
 information and advice, 116 past successes review, 114
 personal strengths/supports, 114–115, 115b
 questions, 113
 radical change, 118
 reframing, 116–117
 responding to confidence talk, 117–118
- Conflicts, 14
 approach–approach, 14
 approach–avoidance, 14–15, 19, 39
 avoidance–avoidance, 14
 double approach–avoidance type, 15
- Confrontation, 244. See also Advocacy responses “attack therapy,” 11–12
 “boot camp”/“scared straight” treatment programs, 334–335 negative effects of, 7, 9, 47

- Consonance/dissonance, 43–45, 51
 dissonance causes, 45–46
 dissonance and client resistance behavior, 46
- Counselor effects, 6–7. See also Advocacy responses confrontational style (negative effects of), 7, 9
 skill issues and resistance, 99
 support for, 244
- Cultural issues
 British vs. American counselors, 73 use of motivational interviewing in international public health issues, 266–268
- CYT (Cannabis Youth Treatment) project, 325
- D
- Decisional balance, 15–16, 15f, 16f, 369b
- Defense mechanisms, 11
- Discrepancy, 292
 development, 22
 and expressed empathy, 384–385
 and motivational interviewing, 55–56
 in group format, 385–386
 and perception, 23
 and self-regulation, 10
- Dissonance. See Consonance/dissonance
- Dose effects, 5
- Drop-in motivational groups, 371
- Dual disorders, 362
 and integrated care, 364
 and motivational interviewing, 364, 376
 enhancing treatment adherence, 365–366 inpatient to outpatient transitioning, 364–365
 medication adherence, 366–368
 special issues, 372–374
 and treatment problems, 363
- E
- Empathy. See Accurate empathy
- Empirical research review (motivational interviewing), 247 future research directions, 246–247
 and adaptations, 282
 guidelines, 219–220
 internal validity of research design issues, 242–243
 ongoing studies, 257
 prior studies, 219
- process–outcome links, 244–245
- qualitative outcome review, 226, 241–244
 AMIs for alcohol problems, 226, 233–235
 AMIs for alcohol problems (stand-alone/no-treatment controls), 229–230
 AMIs for alcohol problems (stand-alone/other treatment controls), 230–233
 AMIs for alcohol problems (treatment preludes), 226–229
 AMIs for diet/exercise/lifestyle changes, 239–240
 AMIs for drugs, 235–237
 AMIs for eating disorders, 240–241
 AMIs for HIV-risk behaviors, 238–239
 AMIs for psychiatric treatment adherence, 237–238
 AMIs for smoking, 235
 studies/characteristics, 220, 225
 AMIs for alcohol problems, 221t–222t
 AMIs for diet/exercise/health behaviors, 224t AMIs for smoking/drugs/HIV-risk behavior/psychiatric treatment adherence, 223t methodology (quantitative perspective), 220, 226
- Equipoise, 91
- Ernst, Denise, 277
- Ethical considerations
 aspirations, 164–165
 of client, 162
 of counselor, 162–163
- complexities and motivational interviewing, 166–167, 170b
 coerciveness issue, 167–168
 special situations, 168–169
- guidelines, 169
 aspirations clarification, 169–171
 coercive power vs. motivational interviewing, 173–175 negotiate counselor's agenda, 171–172
 personal investment vs. motivational interviewing, 172–173
- influence (use of) in motivational interviewing, 161–162
 power (and use of), 165–166

F

Faith/hope effects. See Self-efficacy
 Family Check-Up, 326
 Festinger, Leon, 38
 Freud, Anna, 11

G

Get Busy Living project, 263–264
 GMI (group-based motivational interviewing), 377–378, 389–390
 and adult outpatients, 379–380 argument/confrontation avoidance, 386–387
 and college student drinking, 378–379
 and discrepancy building, 385–386
 and expert trap issues, 388
 and health intervention studies, 380–381
 limitations and possibilities, 381–382
 perils, 384
 process, 382–384
 research opportunities, 388–389
 and “social loafing,” 387 Goals/values and change plan, 134–135
 and change talk, 83
 Gordon, Thomas, 49,68
 Guided self-change approach, 297

H

Haley, Jay, 39
 Healthy Body, Healthy Spirit trial, 259–260, 260t

I

ICT (integrative couple therapy), 352
 Integrity therapy, 290
 Internet
 resources for motivational interviewing learning facilitation, 190
 sources for research review, 219
 Interview, 24–25
 Investment, 162–164
 Ironic process, 37

M

Maslow, Abraham
 hierarchical structure of values, 285–286
 theory of self-actualization, 289

Medical/public health applications of motivational interviewing, 251–252, 268–269 addictive vs. nonaddictive behaviors, 252–253 cardiovascular and diabetes management, 265
 in developing nations, 266
 diet/physical activity changes, 256–258 studies, 258–261
 HIV-prevention, 264–265
 medication adherence, 262–264
 screening, 266
 smoking cessation, 261–262
 training issues, 254–256
 treatment time, 253. See also Brief negotiation
 MINT (Motivational Interviewing Network of Trainers), 219
 MISC (Motivational Interviewing Skill Code) system, 183 Motivation , 10, 347. See also Change (motivational understanding of); SDT (self-determination theory)
 as an interpersonal process, 22
 individual choices/expectations, 18–19 readiness for treatment, 312 and adherence, 313–314
 willing, 10
 Motivational interventions, 33
 Motivational interviewing, 22–23, 25, 218, 279–280. See also Brief negotiation; Ethical considerations; GMI (group-based motivational interviewing) and ambivalence resolution, 26 applications, 35–36, 251. See also Adaptations of motivational interviewing; Medical/public health applications; Motivational interviewing (adolescents/young adults); Motivational interviewing (criminal justice populations)
 case examples, 275–276
 and “cognitive dissonance” creation, 38
 as collaborative effort, 41, 76–77
 completion of cycle, 139
 defining characteristics. See also Nondirective mode of motivational interviewing client-centeredness, 25 communication vs. technique, 25
 directive nature of, 25, 85–87, 97
 intrinsic means, 25–26

- vs. expert model concept, 180
- general principles, 36, 42, 218
 - discrepancy development, 38–39
 - empathy expression, 37, 293
 - resistance handling methods, 37–38, 293–294
 - self-efficacy support, 40–41
- humanistic theory foundation, 289, 291
- integration with other methods, 27–28
- limitations of, 26–27, 349
- methods, 65, 83. See also OARS; Values
- phases, 52. See also Phase 1 (motivational interviewing); Phase 2 (motivational interviewing)
- process–outcome links, 244–245
- research 217, 241. See also Empirical research review (motivational interviewing)
- spirit, 33–34, 35b, 41–42, 346
- translation to other cultures, 215, 266–268
- and TTM, 202
- underlying spirit
 - autonomy, 34
 - collaboration, 34
 - evocation, 34
- Motivational interviewing (adolescents/young adults), 320–321, 322–323
 - clinical considerations, 328–330
 - developmental considerations (adolescence), 321
 - developmental considerations (young adults), 321–322
 - effectiveness, 323–324
 - with adolescents in other treatments, 325–326
 - as an indicated preventive intervention, 324–325
 - college students/alcohol use, 327–328
 - with parents, 326
 - future directions, 330–332
- Motivational interviewing (case example), 160
 - Phase 1
 - change talk, 141, 143, 145
 - client background, 140–141
 - collecting summary, 144
 - initial structuring statement, 141
 - open questions, 141–143
 - reflection, 143, 145
 - reframing, 145–146
 - transition to next phase evaluation, 146–147
 - Phase 2
 - looking ahead, 158
 - “menu” concept, 156
 - negotiation process/goals discussion, 154
 - permission to give advice, 156
 - plan summary, 159
 - reflecting ambivalence, 157, 158, 159
 - self-efficacy support, 155, 157
 - and structured assessment, 147–148
 - feedback process, 151–152
 - giving information, 149–150
 - recapitulation, 152–153
 - reflection, 148, 150, 153
 - resistance, 149
 - self-efficacy support, 153–154
 - transition to next phase evaluation, 154
- Motivational interviewing (couples), 348, 351, 360–361. See also Acceptance-based therapies; Action-oriented therapies; Systems therapies
 - action stage/maintenance stage, 350–351
 - client context, 349–350
 - demand–withdraw couple interaction, 349
 - format, 353, 357
 - dyadic interaction sequences focus, 355–357
 - interviewing with both partners, 354–355
 - partner as participant in client’s interviewing, 353–354
 - “hidden” information, 348–349
 - practical issues, 357
 - dealing with resistance, 359–360
 - goals consensus, 359
 - identifying appropriate candidate, 357–358
 - joining with the couple, 358
 - relationship cohesion, 359
 - principles and self-efficacy conditions, 350
 - social support, 348
- Motivational interviewing (criminal justice populations), 333–334, 345–346
 - clinical trials, 340
 - limitations, 344–345
 - motivational issues, 334
 - offenders with substance abuse problems, 342–344
 - progress issues/responsivity, 338–339
 - sex offenders, 340–341
 - system culture, 334–335
 - as treatment adjunct, 344
 - treatment uptake issues, 337–338

Motivational interviewing (learning process), 179–180, 184
 and adaptations, 281–282
 attention to dissonance, 181–182
 clients as teachers, 180–181
 code session tapes, 183
 facilitation, 185–186
 Internet resources, 190
 listening skills, 190–191
 practice/feedback/role play, 191
 practice/theory balance, 191–192
 topics, 189–190
 facilitation principles, 186
 adapt to learning preferences, 188–189
 avoid expert trap, 187
 enter counselor's context, 188
 focus beyond technical matters, 188
 listen to learners, 187
 practice/skillfulness, 186–187
 simplicity, 189
 learning opportunities, 192
 tailored on-site learning, 193–195
 workshops, 193
 and medical/public health training issues, 254–256
 review tapes of practice, 182 solicit client perspectives, 182–183 system (culture) changes, 196–198
 trainers network, 219
 training evaluation, 195–196
 Mowrer, O., integrative learning, 290
 MRI, 351–352

N

Nondirective mode of motivational interviewing, 91–92, 97
 clarifying ambivalence, 92, 96
 clarifying values, 92–93
 case example, 93–96

O

OARS, 65
 Open questions, 65–67, 67b
 Affirming, 73
 Reflecting, 67–68, 73
 “continuing the paragraph” example, 70–71
 as decoding/checking, 69–70
 depth, 71–72
 not-listening responses, 68–69
 Summarizing, 74–76
 Opinion, 162–163

P

Phase 1 (motivational interviewing), 52–53, 100
 measuring importance/confidence of change, 53–55, 54b and readiness, 54 methods; change talk facilitation, 76–78
 methods (early), 65. See also OARS session one, 63–64
 agenda setting, 64–65
 opening structure, 64
 strategies influencing adherence, 316–317
 traps (early), 55
 blaming, 63
 diagnostic labeling, 60–62
 expert opinion, 60
 premature focus, 62–63
 question–answer, 55–56, 73
 taking sides, 56–60
 Phase 2 (motivational interviewing), 100, 203
 change plan development, 111; See also Change plan commitment strengthening, 128 cycle completion, 139 hazards, 128
 ambivalence underestimation, 128–129
 insufficient direction, 129
 overprescription, 129
 initial steps
 information/advice, 131–133
 key questions, 130–131
 recapitulation, 129–130
 point for transition, 126–127, 127b
 strategies influencing adherence, 318–319
 Project CARES, 261
 Project COMBINE, 215
 Project MATCH, 218, 244, 339, 349, 379
 Psychological judo concept, 39
 Psychological reactance theory, 18

R

Reactance, 18, 337
 Recycling, 213
 Reflective listening, 56, 67–73
 and change talk, 88–89
 and confidence talk, 117
 learning, 181, 190–191
 Reflective responses, 100–103
 Reframing, case example, 61–62

- Relapse crises, 213
- Resistance, 8–9, 10
 as an interpersonal phenomenon, 40, 45, 98
 drama of/role changes, 109–110
 change-specific, 49
 vs. “change talk,” 47
 and counselor skill issue, 99
 and couples motivational interviewing, 359–360
 and discrepancy concept, 10
 and motivational interviewing, 44–45
 in “precontemplators,” 204 process categories, 48b and “psychological judo,” 39–40
 reflective responses, 100
 amplified reflection, 101, 107
 double-sided reflection, 101–102
 simple reflection, 100–101
 responses (other), 102
 agreement with direction change, 105–106
 coming alongside, 107–109
 personal choice/control emphasis, 106–107
 reframing, 103–106
 shifting focus, 102–103
 and the righting reflex, 21
 as a signal, 46
 theories of, 98–100
- Reverse psychology, 107
- Righting reflex, 20–22, 271
- Roadblocks, 46, 49, 68
- Roberts, Monty, 50
- Rogers, Carl, 6, 86
 client-centered therapy, 289–290
 influence on motivational interviewing, 25, 37
 on learning and change, 179
 values definition, 285
- Rokeach, values as motivational guideposts, 290, 296
- S
- Scared Straight, 12
- Schiffman, Saul, 213
- SDT (self-determination theory), 335–336
- Self-efficacy, 5–6, 40–41
 and perceived prognosis, 6
- Self-perception theory, and language, 21
- Self-regulation theory, 10, 11
- Sex offenders. See Motivational interviewing (criminal justice populations)
- Solution-focused therapy, 351
- SOTEP, relapse prevention study, 339
- “Spontaneous remission,” 4
- Stages of change (and motivational interviewing), 201–204, 213–216. See also TTM (Transtheoretical model of intentional behavior change)
 contemplation (risk-reward analysis), 208–210
 implementation, 211–212
 maintenance, 212–213
 precontemplators, 204
 rationalizing, 207–208
 rebellious, 205–206
 reluctant, 205
 resigned, 206–207
 preparation stage, 210–211
 stage-matched outpatient treatment model, 374b–375b
- Summaries, 74
 collecting, 74
 linking, 74–75
 transitional, 75–76
- Synanon, 12
- Systems therapies, 351, 352
 similarities with motivational interviewing eliciting change talk, 352
 honoring ambivalence, 351–352
 responding to resistance, 351
 supporting self-efficacy, 352
- T
- Therapeutic paradox, 107
- Traps. See Phase 1 (motivational interviewing)
- Treatment
 counselor effects, 6–7
 discrepancy development, 22–23
 as facilitator of natural change, 4 and unspecified principles of change, 7
- Treatment adherence, 299–300, 306, 319
 and motivational interviewing, 301, 302t–304t, 305, 309–310
 strategies, 314, 315t, 316
 open questions, 309–313
 and outcome, 300–301, 309
- TTM (Transtheoretical model of intentional behavior change), 201–202, 216. See also Stages of change change as individual’s responsibility, 214 processes of change, 214–215

U

University of New Mexico Mental Health Center, 371 clinical program example, 374–376

V

Values, 285
and behavior, 286–287
inefficient problematic behavior, 289
self-oriented problematic behavior, 288 short-sighted problematic behavior, 288
card-sort activity, 385
focus in motivational interviewing, 291–293, 297–298 change planning, 295–296
developing discrepancy, 294
double-sided reflections, 294–295

empathy expression, 293
emphasizing personal choice, 294
increasing confidence, 295
“rolling” with resistance, 293–294
Healthy Body, Healthy Spirit trial, 259–260, 260t
operative and conceived, 285
and psychotherapy, 289–290
empirical studies, 291
structure, 285–286
VSC (values self-confrontation) approach, 290, 296

W

Waiting-list effects, 8
World Wide Web. See Internet

Z

Zweben, Allen, 348